

A collection of student work by Chris Holman

Table of Contents

1. About

2. Sphere

3. Seal Project

4. Lion's Head

5. Fancy Lady

6. Joe & Lou

7. Otto

8. Greeting Card

About Me

My name is Chris Holman i am 27 years old. I am a 2nd year graphic design student. I love to snowboard and be in the Moutain's. I look to my passion for snowboarding for inspiration in my design's. My goal for my graphic design is to able to create a un- quie design's for the snowboarding industry and give back to the Snowboarding Community. For my book i decided to make it look like a snowboarding mag- azine kind of layout. With big pictures and simple captions.

Spheres

Seal Project

Black & White

Color

For this project we had to create a sphere in photoshop. Once we created the sphere we had to colorize it by adding a gradient layer. Once we colored the sphere we had to put the sphere in motion. For this design my sphere ended up looking like a bowling ball so i went with a bowling pin theme. I added 3 holes made it look like the bowling ball was traveling down the lane and finished with a big strike.

In Motion

Lion's Head

Fancy Lady

Before

After

Joe & Lou

Before

After

For this exercise we had to take the picture on the left and use photoshop to go through and retouch and take out some of the cracks. By using an adjustment layer of level's on the picture i was able to add some more detail to the old picture. By using the clone tool in photoshop was able to go through the details of their jackets and take out some of the scratches and spots. After retouching the picture we had to colorize the picture. So i took some inspritation from Dick Tracy and decided to go with a bright yellow jacket for Joe and a nice red color for Lou. I added blue to the background to replace the dull white background in the orginal.

Pen Tool Exercises

Just some pen tool exercises.

